Boone County High School

The scene

Parents, family and friends of Boone County High School's Class of 2006 filled Northern Kentucky University's Regent's Hall to capacity. Mylar balloons hung in the air spelling "BCHS 06."

Graduates

ADVERTISMENT 242. The 134 women wore silver robes; National Honor Society members wore a blue stole. The 108 men wore the reverse. Valedictorian: Spencer Paul Greenhalgh. Salutatorian: Tyler Kenneth Cookston.

The speakers

Bryan Blavatt, superintendent of Boone County Schools; class president Thomas Mullins and vice-president Lauren Winsett.

What they said

Blavatt: "Four things my parents taught me. Doing the right thing is never wrong; doing the wrong thing is never right. Never pick a fight when you're sitting down. Use your head. Finally, ask yourself 'Is it really going to matter two weeks from now?' The answer is 'probably not.' "

Mullins: "We have endured what I like to call 'Survivor: Rebel Island.' Our class together as a whole - we're a tribe. We survived our ABCs, SATs, and ACTs."

Winsett: "I don't know about you, but I couldn't wait to graduate high school. I was ready to start a new chapter in my life. I'm not so sure anymore."

Scrambling: A father desperately searched for two AA-sized batteries for his camera. Robert Cahlfant III desperately searched for his tassel.

Forward thinking:

NKU placed at the entrance a table full of NKU applications.

Howard McEwen

ZOOM The Enquirer/ernest Coleman
Graduate Katy Ducker, 18, of Florence, sits on the floor before the start of commencement for Boone County High School on Friday. The event was held at NKU.
